A Palette of Colorful Duets Volume I

Daniel Thrower

Magenta seemed like a good color for a bright, comical fanfare duet.

Maroon has always seemed like a humorous, but subdued color to me. Though it is not marked, Maroon should be treated as a subtle scherzo. Have fun with it!

The Christmas duet (Red and Green) was a commission for a church Christmas party.

Red, White and Blue is an artistic rendition of The Star-Spangled Banner with an extensive fanfare introduction. It is very effective to use when an audience is not expecting the American flag to be presented, then it comes in the middle of the trumpet prelude!

Charcoal is a strict canon... a silly name derived from a silly pun.

Lilacs have always been my favorite flowers. How fortunate that the word is also used as a color name. There is beauty in this duet's counterpoint, still maintaining a high level of difficulty.

Though quite slow, Navy Blue is one of the harder duets to perform convincingly. It is a nocturne, with a flavor of unanswered romantic questions all too common in the maddening games of courtship.

The Blue Sky Series was originally a series of eight fanfares for one trumpet, commissioned to open a series of concerts in a park. Some of the fanfares begged for a second trumpet part to be written, while others seemed ridiculous with an attempted second part, and others still were just neglected. I only harmonized four of the Blue Sky Series fanfares, for now. I with my students and colleagues have greatly enjoyed preparing and performing these duets, as I hope you will too.

Daniel Thrower graduated with a Master's Degree in Trumpet Performance and Pedagogy from Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah. He is currently Professor of Trumpet at BYU-Idaho in Rexburg, Idaho and Principal Trumpet in the Idaho Falls Symphony. He regards his composition as a kind of personal journal, though he has received awards and commissions for his work. Some more notable commissions include a five minute, 24-trumpet piece for America's Freedom Festival in Provo, and several four-trumpet fanfares for Disney on Ice in Salt Lake City's Delta Center. Though his compositions are almost all fairly difficult, the tonality is generally quite accessible, and the harmonies lend themselves well to the medium of brass instruments.
