Windscape

David Marlatt

Windscape is a rhythmic and energetic piece written for equally energetic students in Ottawa, Canada. It opens with The Winds from the North. The driving bass line combined with the punctuated wind parts represent the bitter winds that blow into Ontario in the winter time. This moves into The Winds of Change. This has a shifty but steady pulse that features melody in the trumpet at first and then a counter melody is added the flutes and saxophones. Crystal glasses and a lone alto saxophone are the featured sonorities in The Winds of Mystery. It is very modal with colourful percussion sounds including the unexpected sound of the vibraslap. The Winds of Change then reappear and, with several sidebar introductions of new rhythmic and melodic material, the piece ends as it should - driving and enthusiastic, like the students it was written for.

Notes to the Conductor:

The crystal glasses part starting at 53 could be played by as many people in the band as possible. This would help to create an antiphonal effect and a great cushion of sound for the solo saxophone. The glasses could be tuned to D and G or could be randomly tuned to allow for a different effect.

The flutes have a few high G's through this piece (bars 96, 143 and 146). If this note is too high to be played comfortably and in tune, then half the section could play the written D and the other half could play the G down the octave. The same approach could be taken for the high A in the trumpet 1 part (bar 143).

Commissioned by the Ottawa Catholic School Board (Canada) in collaboration with the New Sounds of Learning Project, Dr. B. W. Andrews, Principal Investigator, University of Ottawa (Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council Grant No. 410-2006-2529). Premiered by Lester B. Pearson Catholic High School, Ottawa, Ontario Pierre Huneault, Director.
