Woodcrest Overture

David Marlatt

THE WORK:

Woodcrest Overture is an energetic piece full of rhythmic drive and interest for all players. It has been designed in layers. Each layer is stated throughout the composition then all the various melodic units are layered one on top of another to bring the piece to an exciting conclusion.

NOTES TO THE CONDUCTOR:

Rhythmic precision is what will make this piece work. All the layers fit together but only if the pulse is kept constant. Be sure the syncopated figure is short-long and not all just short notes. The bass melody at measure 52 is great fun for players who not often get interesting parts! This is a section that they must practice together to match length of notes and dynamic.

As indicated on the score, the claves part may be substituted with a cow bell if claves are not available. The ff indication at measure 84 is achieved by the wind players playing a good full sound and the driving passages in the snare drum adding the extra volume. Don't let the enthusiasm of the musicians create a forced or overblown sound.
