PROGRAM NOTES

As the title indicates, this piece is intended to generate a Flash Mob or in a concert situation on stage. You may even experience power and beauty of Beethoven's familiar "Ode to Joy" in the future as a true flash mob in a local park or a mall.

NOTES TO THE CONDUCTOR

A man or woman walks into a park or a mall and quietly starts playing some familiar tune. Then he/she's joined by other musicians, one at a time and then 5 at a time until all of a sudden there's an entire ensemble playing glorious music! In a concert setting it would be a good piece to use to open the second half or even the opening of the concert.

The piece begins with either a solo trombone or a solo trumpet. Everyone else remains off stage or somewhere out of sight. The conductor enters and other instruments enter the playing area one by one until measure 34 when all players should be in. This takes approximately a minute and 15 seconds. Timings are marked in each part with the approximate time the player has to be ready to play from the first note of the piece.

Players should note carefully the markings regarding playing second time only on the repeat.

Please have fun!
